Orange Group 2025

Busy, Busy, Busy!

As a parent myself, I just want to take a moment to thank you. Thank you for always trying to give your best to your children, for making the effort to be on time as our late arrival policy has changed, and for actively participating in our events and holiday celebrations.

Every day, through our small acts of care, kindness, and love, we are shaping and molding young, developing individuals who will become great people in the future. Last month, we covered many important topics about kindness and how great leaders and activists have changed the world because they shared a common dream—to be kind, to love, and to bring peace.

During the month

We will be studying three interconnected topics:

1. Community Helpers

- Understanding how community helpers support us.
- Exploring different professions and their roles in our community.

2. Building Study

- Learning about architecture and different types of buildings.
- Reading directions and recognizing building shapes and floors.
- Comparing building heights and structures.

3. Transportation

- Exploring different modes of transportation used for school, work, and travel.
- Understanding how various forms of transportation move at different speeds.

These topics will help us better understand our community, the structures around us, and how we move from place to place.
